Pebble Team Rescues Hunting Parties

Remote terrain and dramatic weather patterns in Alaska can be a perilous combination. Response time, coupled with safety, is critical. Several times each year, the Pebble Partnership's emergency training and safety expertise is accessed by state and federal agencies in emergency situations.

Recently, the Pebble Partnership provided rescue assistance for two hunting parties. Read more...

Independent Science Panel To Review Pebble Studies

A series of independent scientific review panels, organized by Colorado-based Keystone Center, are poised to launch reviewing the environmental and socio-economic baseline studies associated with the Pebble deposit.

The three phase series, open to the public, will begin with a daylong event Dec. 3, 2010. The first discussion is titled "Responsible Large-Scale Mining - Global Perspectives." Read more...
